The substantive issue of interest with today's call relates to the ongoing efforts to distribute water from Kalamazoo's system to Parchment's in both the short term and long term.

Transition to Kalamazoo water:

- Work continues on construction of permanent, below ground pipes are being installed in anticipation of a long-term permanent connection. (See attached photos above)
- City employees continue systematically flushing residential connections throughout Parchment ;
- Coordination underway to flush service lines to schools continues;
- While local and state agencies are hoping to message to Parchment residents early next week that they can now begin to use tap water again, it appears that they are still working out exactly which agency will make that determination and what information and data will be relied upon to justify the decision that residents can safely consume water from the Parchment system (PFAS sample results, sampling representativeness ,standard water distribution chemistry and structural completeness); We plan to discuss this in our coordination call with WD on Monday just as a double check to make certain they are aware of the effort and can be engaged in it if they are not already and if they determine that's appropriate .

Private wells:

- 87 private wells sampled to date. Continues;
- Agencies continue to develop decision tree for actions required when residential data are received (beginning week of 8-6-18)

Source Investigation:

- Sampling of Crown Vantage monitoring well network continues.

Public Information:

- FAQ's in preparation.
- Governor Snyder will visit Parchment on Sunday.
